Purpose of cookies

We use cookies for the administration and proper functioning of our website, including statistical recording and measurement of traffic, through cookies we also provide functions of some social media (facebook, instagram). Each time you visit our website, the analytical software stores anonymous cookies. This helps us determine how many users visit our website repeatedly. In this way, we better understand how visitors on our website behave, what they prefer and what interests them in order to adapt our website to these preferences.

Types of cookies

There are different types of cookies. We use the following on our website:

Relational or temporary cookies, which are stored on your computer only until the end of the browser session. We do not need your consent to use these cookies.

Persistent cookies remain stored on your computer for longer. They help us identify your computer if you revisit our website. Even in this case, however, we cannot in any way identify you personally and we store the relevant data completely anonymously and do not combine them with any other data.

First party cookie - created directly by our website or scripts on the same domain. It is most often used to ensure the basic functionality of the website.

Third party cookies - are created by other websites and other scripts. These are, for example, cookies of advertising systems, social network widgets or embedded videos.

Strictly necessary cookies - or "technical" cookies. These cookies help to ensure that our website can be displayed correctly and that it can be used by enabling basic functions such as website navigation. The website cannot function properly without these cookies. We do not need your consent to use these cookies.

Preferential cookies - these cookies allow the website to remember your preferences, which affect how the website behaves or looks. For example, font size, layout, or language. You do not have to enter this information again and the next visit to the website can be easier and more productive for you.

Statistical / Analytical Cookies - These cookies help us understand how visitors use our website. These cookies collect and communicate information anonymously. To do this, we use Google Analytics, a Google analytics tool that may use a set of cookies to collect information and report on your use of the website without us or Google knowing any personally identifiable information about each visitor. Analytical cookies may be used by Google in its services for this purpose.

Marketing cookies - these cookies connect our website with social and advertising networks of third parties such as Facebook or Google Ads. Thanks to this link, we can show you relevant advertising outside of our website.
